

Letter from Gilbert Grosvenor to Alexander Graham Bell, June 11, 1912

June 11, 1912 Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, 1331 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D.C. My dear Dr. Bell:

The Treasurer reports:

(1) 933 Active Members who paid their dues for the full year of 1911. of these 334 were now members.

(2) The income derived from membership dues and subscriptions to The Review for 1911 was $2,143. Of this amount $255.97 was for subscriptions, and the balance for membership dues.

In addition to the above there were 13 new Life Members added during 1911, from whom $650 additional was received.

Yours sincerely,

This is a copy of Report made to the Board at its meeting in Rochester, N.Y. in June 1911.

N.B. In addition to the 991 active members who had paid their dues on or before May 16, 1911 there were also 121 active members whose dues for 1911 were unpaid at that date. This brings the list of active members up to 1112 persons on the 16th of May 1911. But this does not even yet measure the increase for 1911 for there were also 146 subscriptions, of which all but 13 had been paid by May 16, 1911.
